

Accessibility Action Plan 2014 - 2017:

An Inclusive Future For All Abilities

CEO Message

I am pleased to launch BUSY At Work's inaugural Accessibility Action Plan. I believe we must actively contribute to reducing the barriers faced by people with a disability by building a respectful community and delivering accessible and inclusive workforce practices.

Our Accessibility Action Plan reflects our Values of Loyalty, Integrity, Accountability, Respect, Teamwork, Service and Safety and our Vision to have more people in jobs, more people learning new skills and more communities exposed to positive change, in partnership with employers and Industry.

BUSY At Work is committed to working together with people with a disability, stakeholders and the community, to overcome the difficulties and challenges faced daily.

Through the development of our Accessibility Action Plan we aspire to work together on bridging the physical, social, and organisational barriers between people with disability and the broader Australian community in building a more inclusive future.

BUSY At Work

Our Business

BUSY At Work is a not-for-profit organisation providing apprenticeship, employment and community programs. We were established in 1977 to deliver training and employment to homeless young people on the Gold Coast. BUSY is an acronym of Backing Unemployed Southport/Surfers Youth.

Since small beginnings, BUSY At Work has had significant growth and have established various programs and services across Australia with offices throughout Queensland, Victoria, Canberra, Newcastle and Perth. We have a reputation as the specialists in apprenticeship services and our key service areas deliver a cooperative approach to apprentice, employee and community needs. We provide our clients with a complete end-to-end planning approach that sets us apart from any other provider.

Our comprehensive programs are designed to provide skilling solutions and services to businesses and the community while profits are injected directly back into the local community with emphasis on people faced with challenges including youth.

BUSY At Work as an organisation has nearly 250 employees. It is the intention as part of our Accessibility Action Plan (AAP) that all employees build their knowledge and understanding of disability and BUSY At Work becomes recognised as an inclusive workplace.

The Purpose of Accessibility Action Plans

An Accessibility Action Plan is a formal public document that outlines an organisation's intentions and commitment to an accessible and inclusive workplace for people with a disability. An Accessibility Action Plan is underpinned by the provisions of the Disability Discrimination Act 1992 (DDA) which requires that people with a disability are not discriminated against and are given equal rights and opportunities to participate and contribute fully in their community.

An Accessibility Action Plan can assist organisations to identify any barriers to accessing and delivering their services to people with a disability, as well as establish goals and targets to enhance and improve their current service practices.

BUSY At Work launched its inaugural organisational Disability Policy in September 2013 during Disability Action Week. This was the first step towards recognising the important contribution that people with a disability make to the community and to the workplace. The Accessibility Action Plan 2014-2017 aims to reinforce the commitment that BUSY At Work has in maintaining its corporate vision:

“To have more people in jobs, more people learning new skills and more communities exposed to positive change, in partnership with employers and Industry.”

BUSY At Work will do this by ensuring that:

- Workplace and services reflect accessible and inclusive practices and programs that improve the experiences of people with a disability
- People with a disability recognise and trust BUSY At Work as an inclusive organisation

The Accessibility Action Plan (AAP) has been considered and fully endorsed by the Executive Management Team.

The AAP Working Group was initiated by the CEO, Paul Miles in consultation with Executive Management. The Working Group is a collective group of representatives from various business areas who are committed to ensuring tasks required to formulate the AAP development, ongoing monitoring and reviews are completed and that all goals are achieved over the next 3 years.

Paul Miles, BUSY At Work CEO will be actively promoting our AAP both internally and externally, as will all staff along with our AAP Working Group.

The BUSY At Work AAP Working Group members are:-

- Ann Lye, Human Resources Manager
- Suzanne Schilg, Contracts and Policy Manager
- Radmila Desic, Regional Manager – Brisbane Metro North
- Roslyn Englund, Employment Consultant/Hub Coordinator (Ipswich)
- Justin McPherson, Head Office Administration Officer
- Alisha Larkin, AAP Champion, National Disability Coordination Officer

Our Commitment to Inclusion

At BUSY At Work we stand for equal opportunities for all people with a disability, both within our organisation and externally through those that we provide quality service delivery to, which assists in achieving long term employment outcomes.

The intention for BUSY At Work to develop an AAP is to work towards laying the foundations for building stronger meaningful relationships with people with a disability, communities and stakeholders. We will be focusing on breaking down the barriers to inclusion by increasing our organisation's awareness of disability and mental health, and the impacts they may have to gaining and sustaining training and employment.

BUSY At Work is committed to:

- Raising staff awareness and knowledge of disability and mental health issues
- Encouraging diversity in our employment
- Working collaboratively with disability organisations to achieve successful employment outcomes and engage with suppliers for business requirements
- Promoting anti-discrimination and social inclusion in our workspaces
- Increasing disability awareness and appreciation
- Improving accessibility of the BUSY At Work website, intranet and program services for people with a disability in the community and within BUSY At Work

Our Community Partnerships

Through the NDCO Program, BUSY At Work has partnered with schools, disability employment services, community services and businesses to deliver pilots of the national 'Ticket to Work' program to students from selected schools on the Gold Coast and Redlands area. The pilots will form a roll-out to other schools across the rest of the Southern East Queensland region. Together this broad network of organisations are working to raise employment aspirations and opportunities for students with a disability throughout Australia.

The NDCO has also formed a Disability Employment Network on the Gold Coast which aims to share information to services about current and emerging issues and opportunities, as well as form a collaborative network to address barriers to successful transition for people with a disability when they wish to enter further education, training or employment.

Job Futures BUSY At Work, have a friendly and professional team who are highly skilled and experienced in helping jobseekers and people with a disability re-enter the workforce. Through our personalised assistance, our team helps find and maintain employment. To enhance the experience and support for people with a disability, BUSY At Work partners with independent health specialists to provide assistance on site.

BUSY At Work has two community hubs, known as Busy Beat. These hubs, located on the Gold Coast and Ipswich, provide the community with pre-employment training in a range of industries as well as assistance with looking for employment and our youth program "R U BUSY?".

Within the community hubs we have provided space for people to come and look for employment and talk to our experienced consultants regarding options in the local areas. In the Ipswich Hub we have a café where people can gain experience through the work experience program, which includes customer service and hospitality skills. Current and past work experience partnerships have come through Claremont Special School and Endeavour Foundation.

These hubs have been an important service for disengaged young people with a disability to gain the confidence needed to identify and pursue their goals.
